The presently submitted specification changes are made to correct grammatical and other informal errors in the application. No new matter is presented.

In the figures, Figure 3 has been amended to replace the term “INITIALIZE” with the term “SETTING” to be consistent with the changes in the specification, and the elements MCS and HDD have been identified using respective figure identifier numbers 36, 78 to be in proper form. In Figure 4, the terms “HEADINGS,” “FAX NUMBER,” and “SCHEDULING” have been respectively changed to “TITLE,” “FACSIMILE,” and “CHANGE ORDER” to reflect the changes to the specification. In Figure 17, the word “AUTOMATICALLY” was added to the box “CHANGED TO READ-LOCK STATE” to coincide with the changes to the specification. A portion of a line that was missing from Figure 27 identifying step “S2702” was added to correct and further clarify what is conveyed by the diagram. In Figure 28, the term “POWER MODE RESETTING” was replaced with “NORMAL POWER MODE SETTING” to be consistent with the changes to the specification, and a previously omitted line representing a “SYNCHRONIZED” step was added to provide clarity to the diagram.
